This screenshot shows the VS Code editor with the file CSSLayout.html open. The code defines a CSS layout using CSS Grid and media queries. The root has a dark blue background. The body has a white background and a sans-serif font. The header has a medium blue background and white text. The nav has a light blue background and white text. A media query is used to change the layout for screens with a maximum width of 768px.

```

This screenshot shows the VS Code editor with a CSS file open. The code defines a media query for a maximum width of 768px. Inside the media query, a container is styled with a grid template of 1fr. The main content area has a green background, white text, 20px padding, and an 8px border radius. The sidebar has a dark blue background, white text, 10px padding, and a 20px margin-top. The footer has a dark blue background, white text, 10px padding, and a 20px margin-top.
